

"I do my Christmas shopping from my office. I send clean, pure, healthful

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT

by the box of twenty packages. My dealer sells it for 85 cents a box!"

"A whole box of it is a real present and its low cost lets me 'remember' people I could not send gifts to otherwise."

Be sure it's WRIGLEY'S

It's the gift you're sure will please.

CAUTION!

The great popularity of the clean, pure, healthful WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT is causing unscrupulous persons to wrap rank imitations that are not even real chewing gum so they resemble genuine WRIGLEY'S. The better class of stores will not try to fool you with these imitations. They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. These rank imitations cost dealers one cent a package or even less and are sold to careless people for almost any price. If you want Wrigley's look before you buy. Get what you pay for. Be SURE it's WRIGLEY'S.

We are inserting the above caution solely to protect our customers, who are continually writing us that they have been deceived by imitations which they purchased thinking they were WRIGLEY'S.

LOGAN'S DISMISSAL DISPLEASES JUDGE

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 23.—Federal Judge Boyd in a statement issued today, announcing the appointment of J. M. Bailey to be United States marshal for the western district of North Carolina to succeed W. E. Logan, recently dismissed by Attorney General McReynolds, declared that he did not approve of Mr. McReynolds's action. Senator Overman of North Carolina recently had requested Judge Boyd to appoint Charles A. Webb of Asheville, whose name has been sent to the senate for marshal to succeed Logan. Judge Boyd declined to do so, he says, because "it would express my approval of the action which had been taken in regard to Marshal Logan and this would not do because I think Logan should have been permitted to serve out his term."

CAPITAL BOULEVARD NAME IS CHANGED

Washington, Dec. 23.—The Avenue of the Presidents, the fashionable boulevard that extends from the White House northward into the suburbs, will cease to be known by that name. If the senate follows the action of the house, which has just voted to restore the old name of Sixteenth street. The more classic name was bestowed a couple of years ago as the result of a movement on the part of well known residents on that street, who urged that it should have a distinctive name like the Unter den Linden in Germany and other prominent boulevards of foreign capitals. Representative Sisson of Mississippi, responsible for the restoration of the old name, merely told the house that the boulevard had been rechristened Sixteenth street in the District of Columbia, appropriating a bill to accord with the original plan of the city of Washington.

NO SOUND HEARD IN LOPEZ' PRISON

Bingham, Utah, Dec. 23.—If Ralph Lopez, slayer of six men, is still in the Utah-Apex mine, where he took refuge on November 27, he is surely sealed up and will be held a prisoner there until after Christmas. Not a sound has come from the mine since December 14, when heavy bulkheads were erected in the tunnel mouths to prevent a dash for liberty.

Although Sheriff Smith, now in sole charge of the man hunt, remains confident that the desperado is either dead or alive in the mine, many believe he escaped shortly after smudges were lit on December 1 for the purpose of asphyxiating him. It is believed that the mystery of the mine will not be cleared up until the bulkheads are removed and the workings searched for the gunman's body. Other than the stories of miners who said they had encountered Lopez and talked with him, there has been nothing to indicate Lopez' presence in the mine since November 30, following his killing of two deputies in the Andy tunnel.

The pursuit of Lopez began on November 21 after he had killed a Mexican. Before the day ended he had killed the chief of police and two deputy sheriffs who pursued him.

FORTY FISHERMEN EVADE DEATH

New York, Dec. 23.—Forty fishermen scrambled off the schooner Seneca in North river today to the tug Daniel Willard just before the schooner, with a big gap in her side, sank in twenty-five feet of water. Backing out of her pier, she had been rammed amidships by the tug, owned by the Pennsylvania Coal company.

PRESIDENT APPOINTS O'MALLEY. Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—President Wilson today nominated P. C. O'Malley for postmaster at Pocatello, Idaho.

STOCKADE DESIGN OF LOG HOUSE IN IDAHO TOWN

C. I. Huddle returned this afternoon to his home in Mackay, Idaho, after a brief detail to district forest headquarters. The Lemhi forest, of which he is supervisor, has the distinction of the greatest mileage of boundaries in proportion to area of any forest in district No. 4, and its area is approximately a million acres. The forest covers the Big and Little Lost river watersheds, a portion of the Sawtooth, Lemhi and Lost river mountain ranges—four separate divisions—so that the boundaries aggregate approximately 600 miles. Since there is much migratory stock up and down the valleys, it is particularly important that the boundaries be distinctly marked, and, beginning last year, each ranger prepares and sets 100 boundary posts along his district during the winter months. These posts are cut from Douglas fir, in length six feet and of about eight inches diameter. The butts for three feet are brush-treated with hot creosote and three feet of the top is squared with six inches face and painted white. Four are set to the mile, and they can be seen distinctly for a mile. Stones are piled about the base of each to prevent cattle from rubbing against them.

Log Houses of Stockade Design. In 1902 the first log house of stockade design was built in the town of Mackay and it has been found an excellent means of utilizing the small log left in the top of a tree after the part large enough for saw timber has been taken. At least thirty houses have since been built in this form in the valley about Mackay, although this practice does not seem to have extended to other parts of Idaho and adjoining states. The points in favor of setting the logs upright are that smaller pieces can be used, and these can be more conveniently obtained and are easier handled. The stockade plan also eliminates the objections to log houses, such as the sagging of doors and windows, since the pieces set upright do not shrink and settle like those laid horizontally. The expected objection that the pieces set upright will not hold the pointing so permanently as logs horizontally laid is overcome by

FREE RIDES ARE RULED OUT ON CARS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—Free lines on the Washington street car lines for members of the police and fire departments became a thing of the past today when the district commissioners finally ruled that they may not enjoy the privilege.

Free car tickets were taken away from the police and firemen several months ago on a decision of the corporation council. Since then an effort has been made to have the ruling rescinded because the street car companies have been willing to furnish free transportation.
